To the kind attention of Lisbon School of Architecture

Melissa was my student and following my Graphic Design course (academic year 24-25 - Sanremo Academy - Interior Architecture and Design).

She has an analytical approach to interior design. She work hard when is face up to aspect of interior design far from her comfort and knowledge zone and expanding her capacity and management skills of the different aspects that concern the project.

As for communication, she manages the elements in a clear and effective way.

She has a natural predisposition to work in team, making her contribution significantly and acquiring skills from the rest of the team. Her approach to design and her perseverance allow her to work and manage a project independently.

Having her in a design group certainly represents an added value.
